

Fine-tune a career as a...
MACHINIST

A growing number of machinists earn two-year associate degrees at community or technical colleges. Long-term, on-the-job training is common. Hourly wages range between $16.00 and $22.00 before overtime.

Machinists are highly-skilled manufacturing workers with extensive knowledge of many precision machine tools which they use to produce metal or plastic parts.

Learn more at:

WWW.WRKSOLUTIONS.COM/CAREEREXPLORATION

